

Dreams List

This page is not about goals, logic, or realism. It is about desire.

Write down everything you want from your life – without filtering, explaining or justifying it. Big things, small things, things you think are “too late” or “not for people like you.” Do not worry about how any of it will happen. Do not worry about whether it feels realistic.

Your only job here is to be honest about what you want. You are not committing to any of this yet. You are simply allowing yourself to see it.

If nothing were off limits, what would my dreams be?
